THE TERRITORIES.

During the approaching session of congress, says the Denver Republican, a strong effort should be Santa Fe Prescott & Phoenix made to secure the admission of New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma. All three of these territor ies are entitled to admission, and it would seem that if the proper efforts were made success could be Oklahoma is new, and therefore, it has less reason than the others to complain of delays that have occured in its attempt to secure admission. But both New Mexico and Arizona have waited a long time, and this is true especially of the former. By the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo it was stipulated that the people of the territory ceded by Mexico should be clothed with the rights of American citizenship as soon as practicable. They and their decendants, together with the people who since then have made New Mexico and Arizona their homes, having long been fitted to exercise the rights of American citizenship.
